Book of Centuries

Book II: The Birth of Christ to Our Own Day

Kept by _____

Begun _____

To the Keeper of this Book

This little book goes with you to the museum, so that what you see there may “all remain distinct and clear in your memory.”

Each opening is one hundred years: the ruled page on the left is for writing, the plain page on the right for drawing. This second book runs from the birth of Christ to our own century.

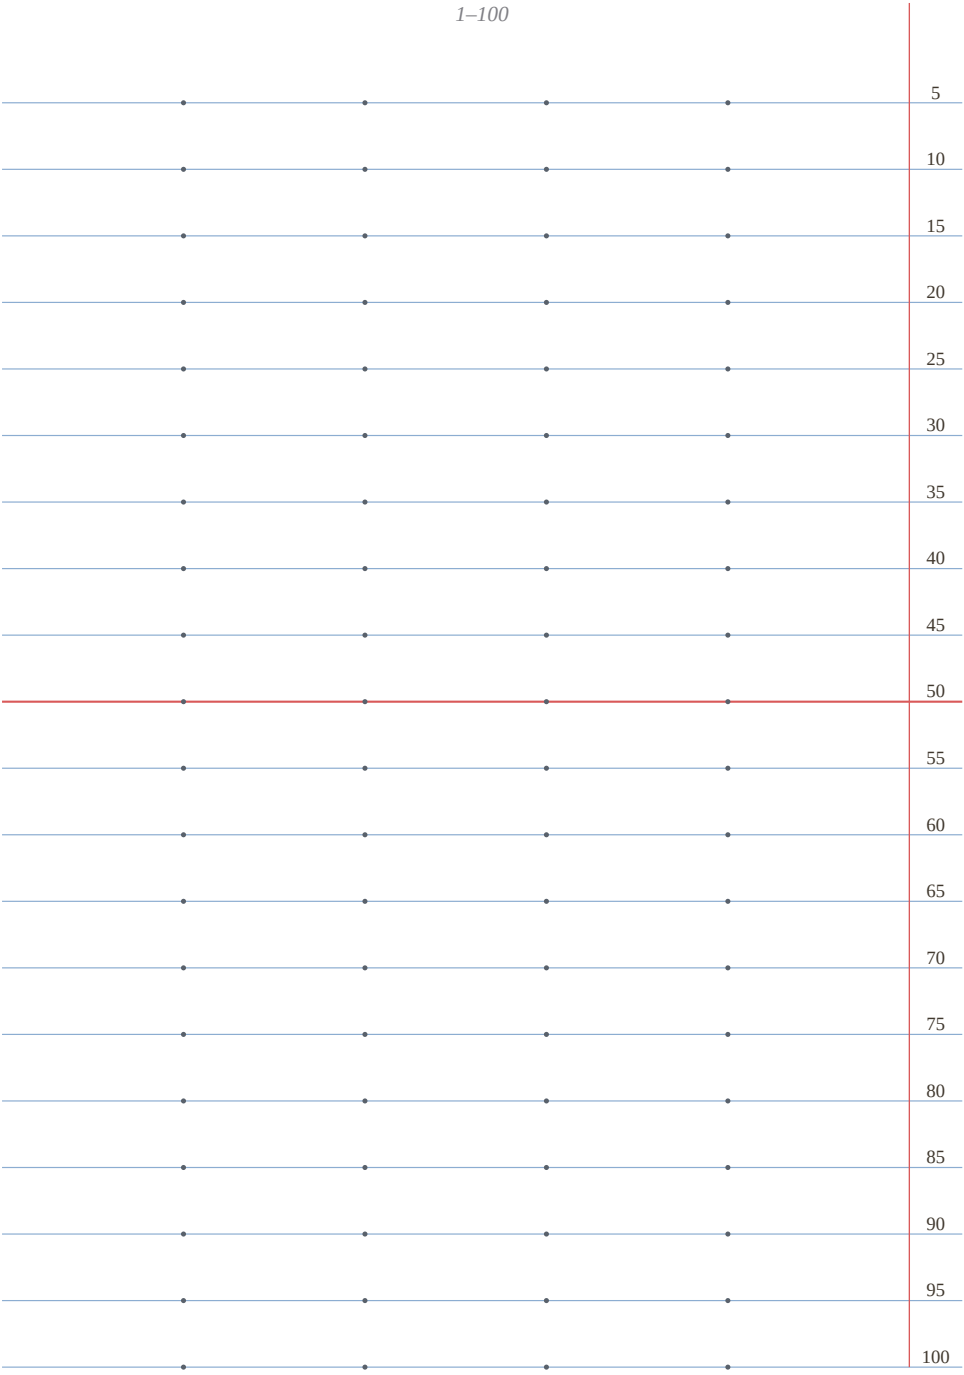

Every ruled line stands for five years, and the little dots mark the single years. The figures at the end of the lines count the years of the century, 5, 10, 15 and so on. Magna Carta, 1215, goes on the line marked 15, at the end.

At the back are pages for maps, for cuttings about new finds, and for books you hear of.

One century to each opening, a plain page for drawing facing a ruled page for writing, as in the interleaved Books of Centuries the P.U.S. children kept from 1914 (G. M. Bernau). A page for each hundred years, forty-five before Christ and twenty-one after, as in Mrs. Epps’s museum note-book (The Parents’ Review, 1906).

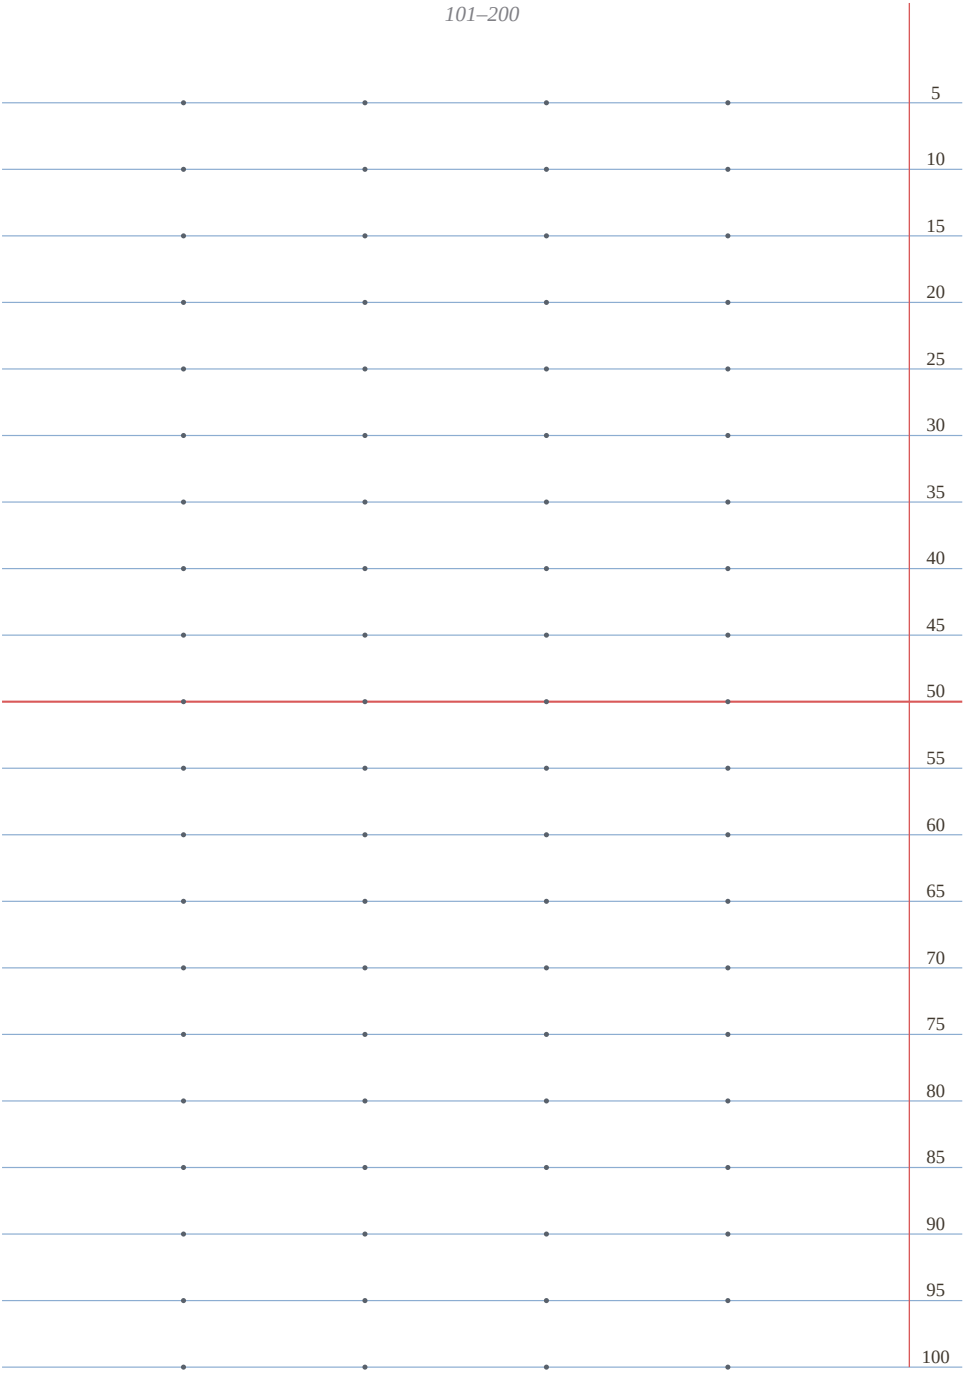

1st Century, A.D.

1–100

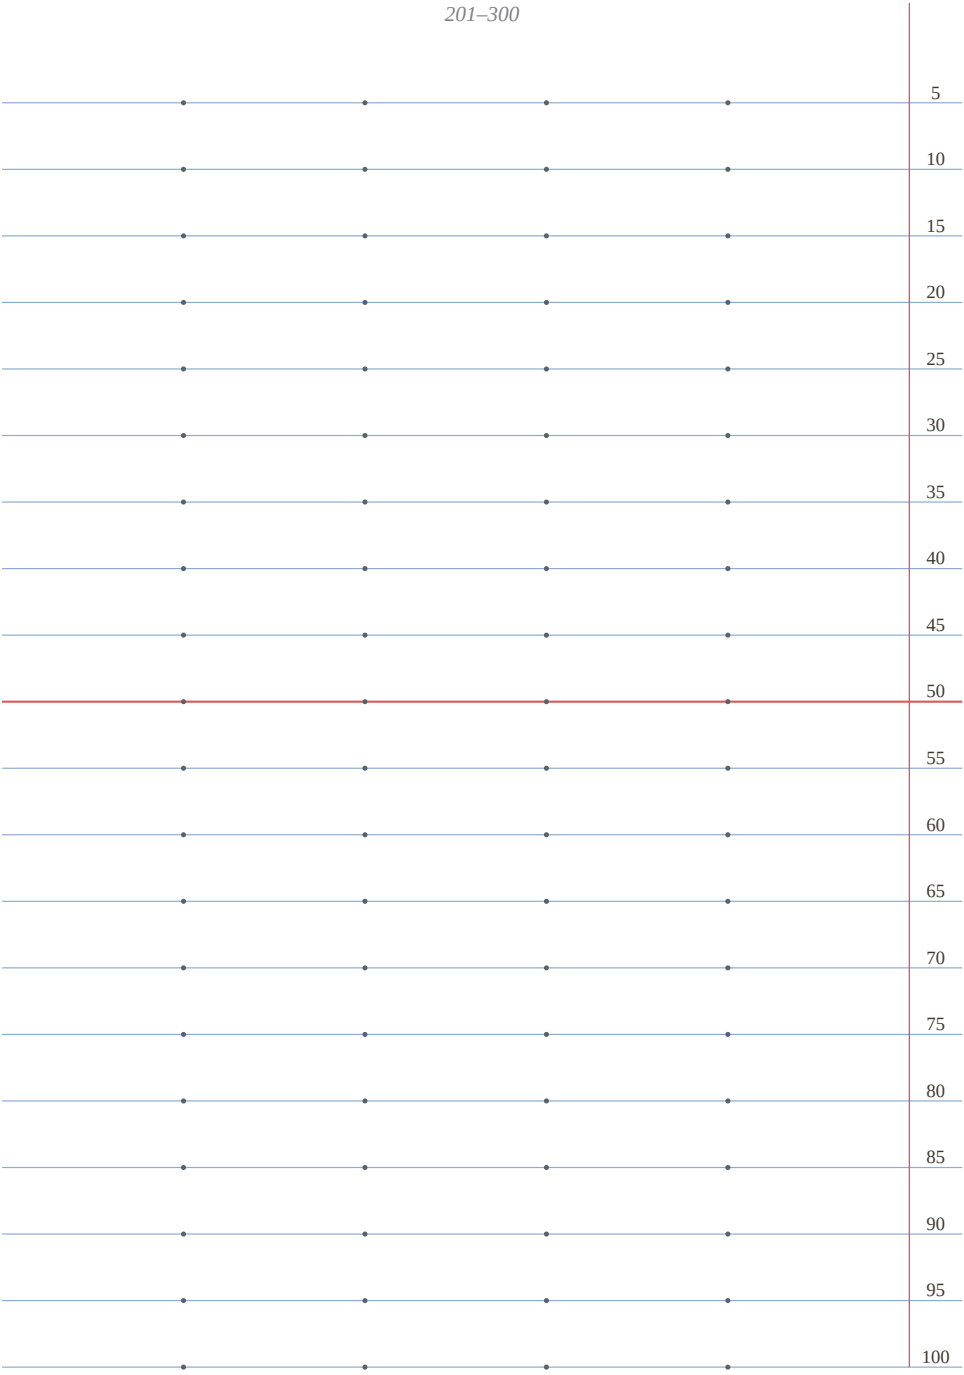

2nd Century, A.D.

101–200

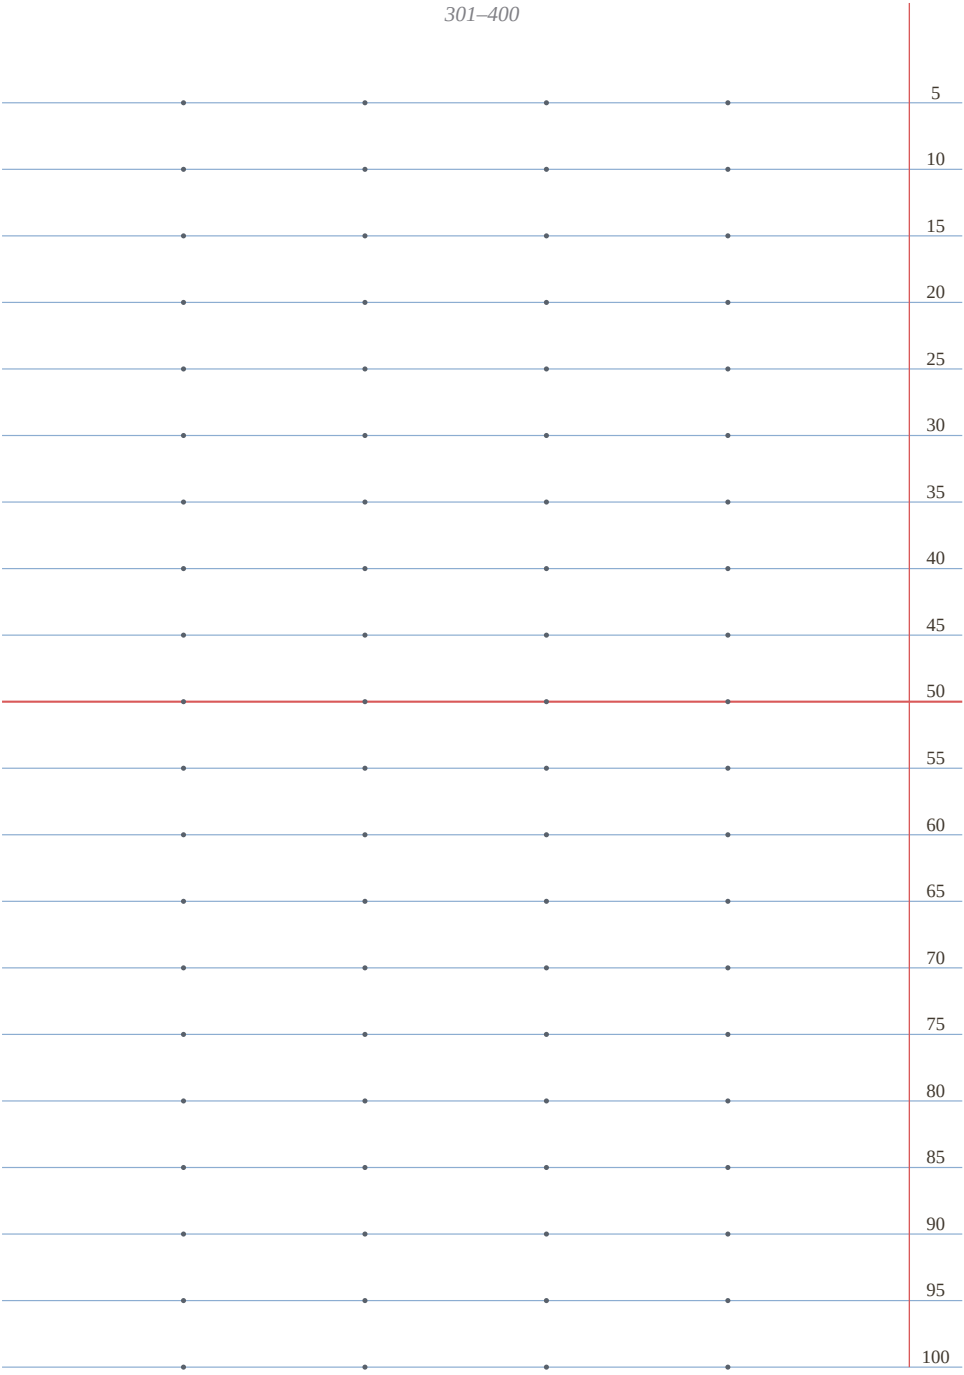

3rd Century, A.D.

201–300

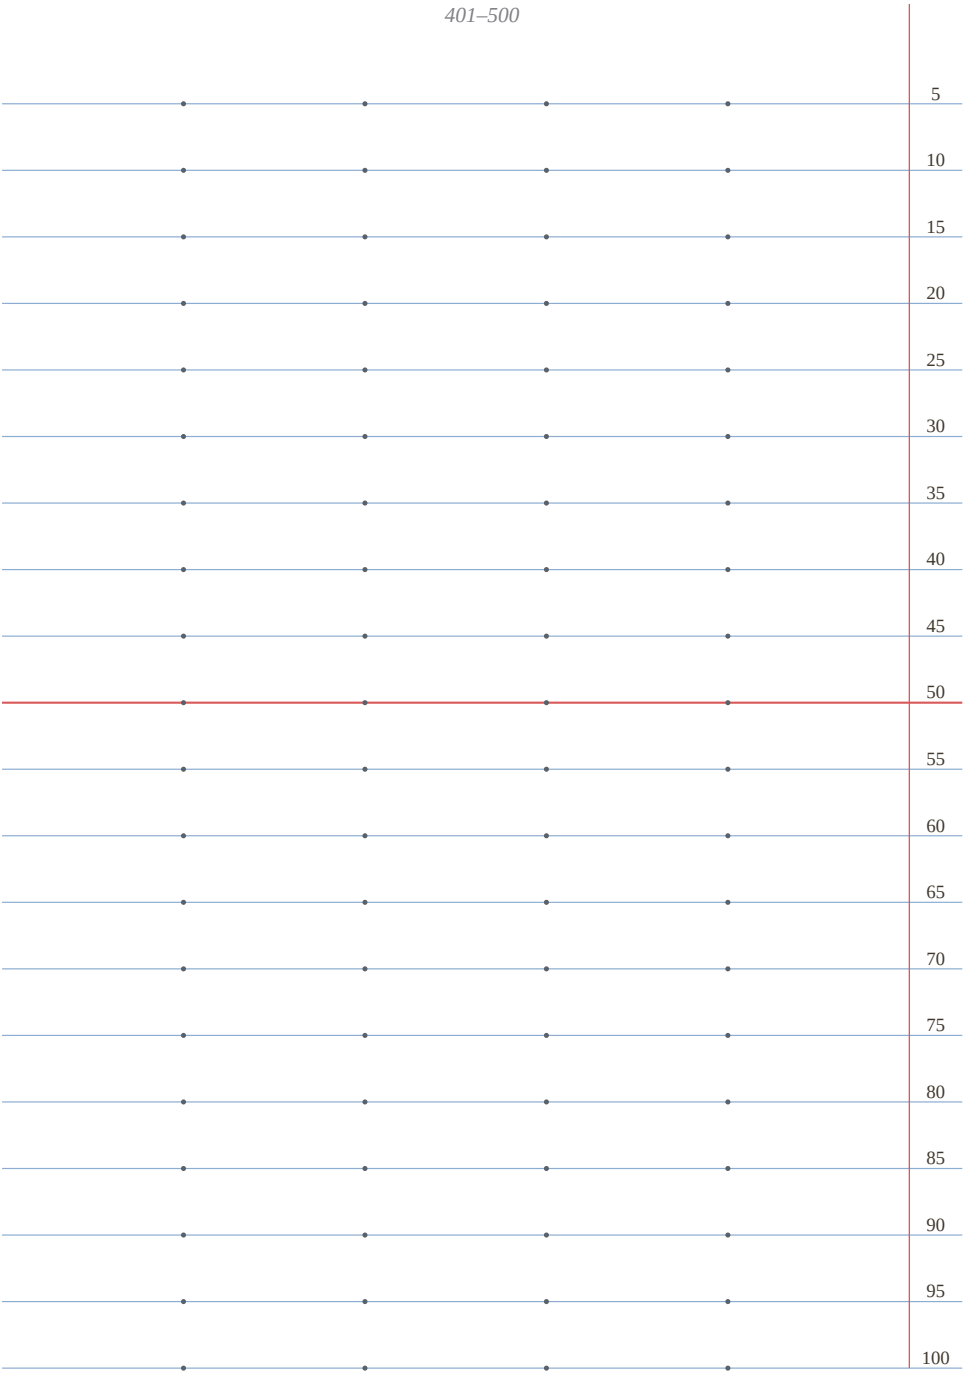

4th Century, A.D.

301–400

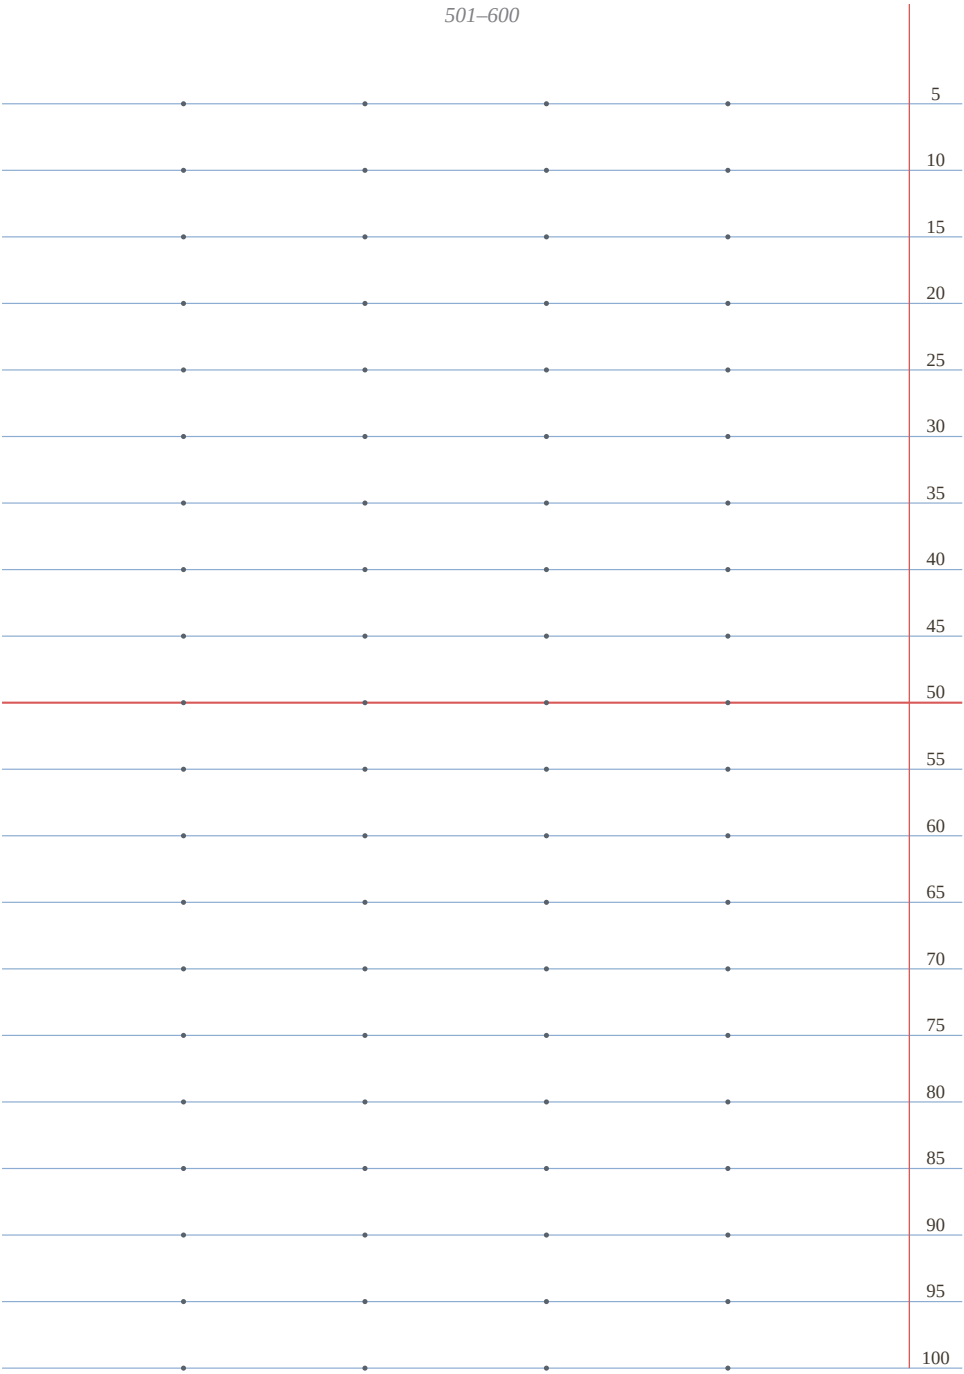

5th Century, A.D.

401–500

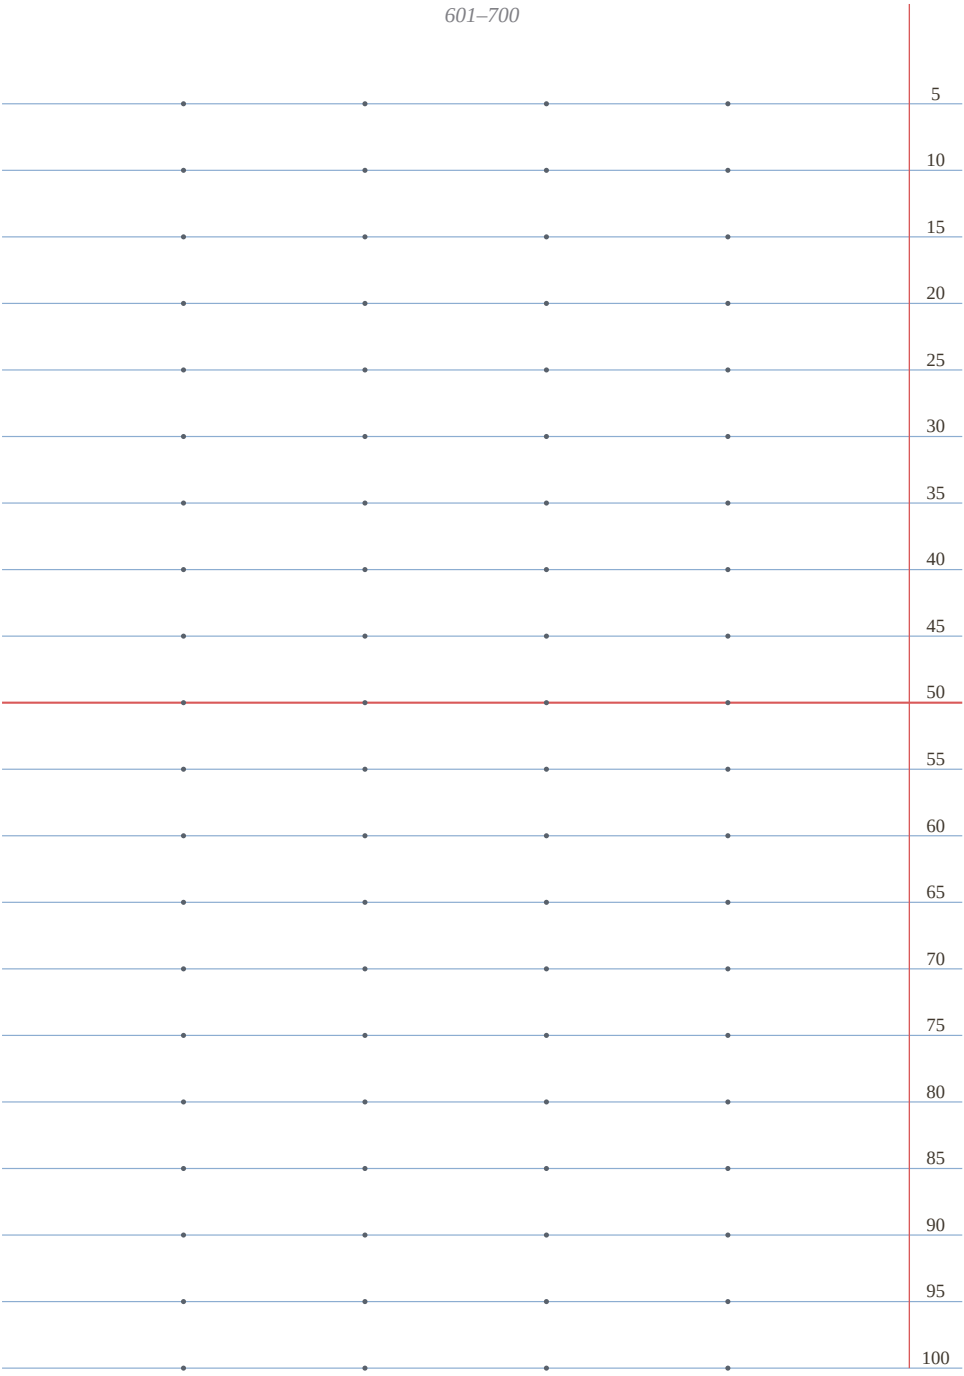

6th Century, A.D.

501–600

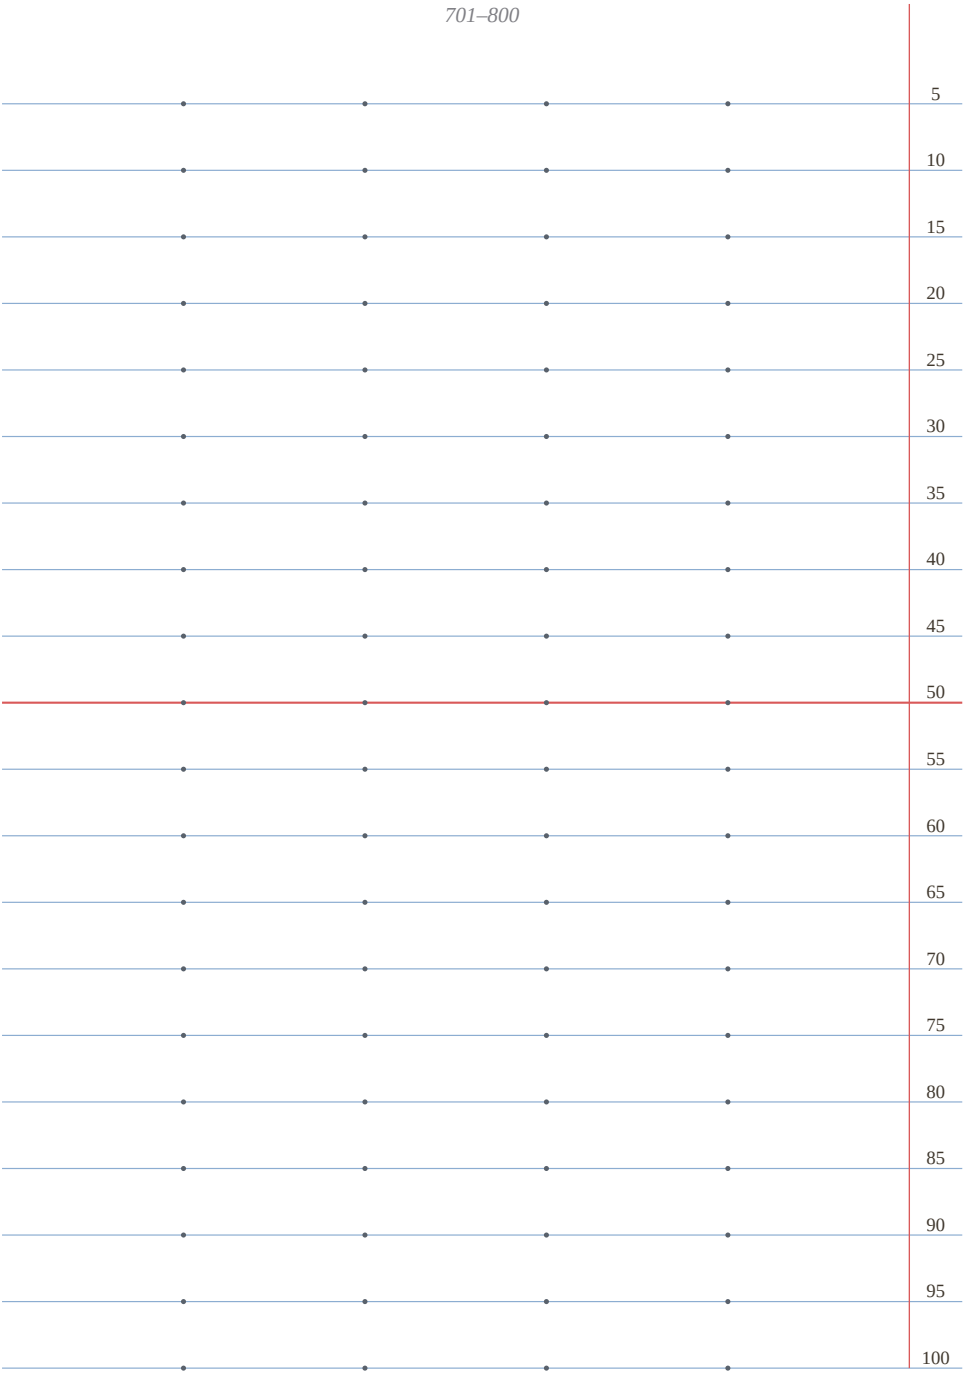

7th Century, A.D.

601–700

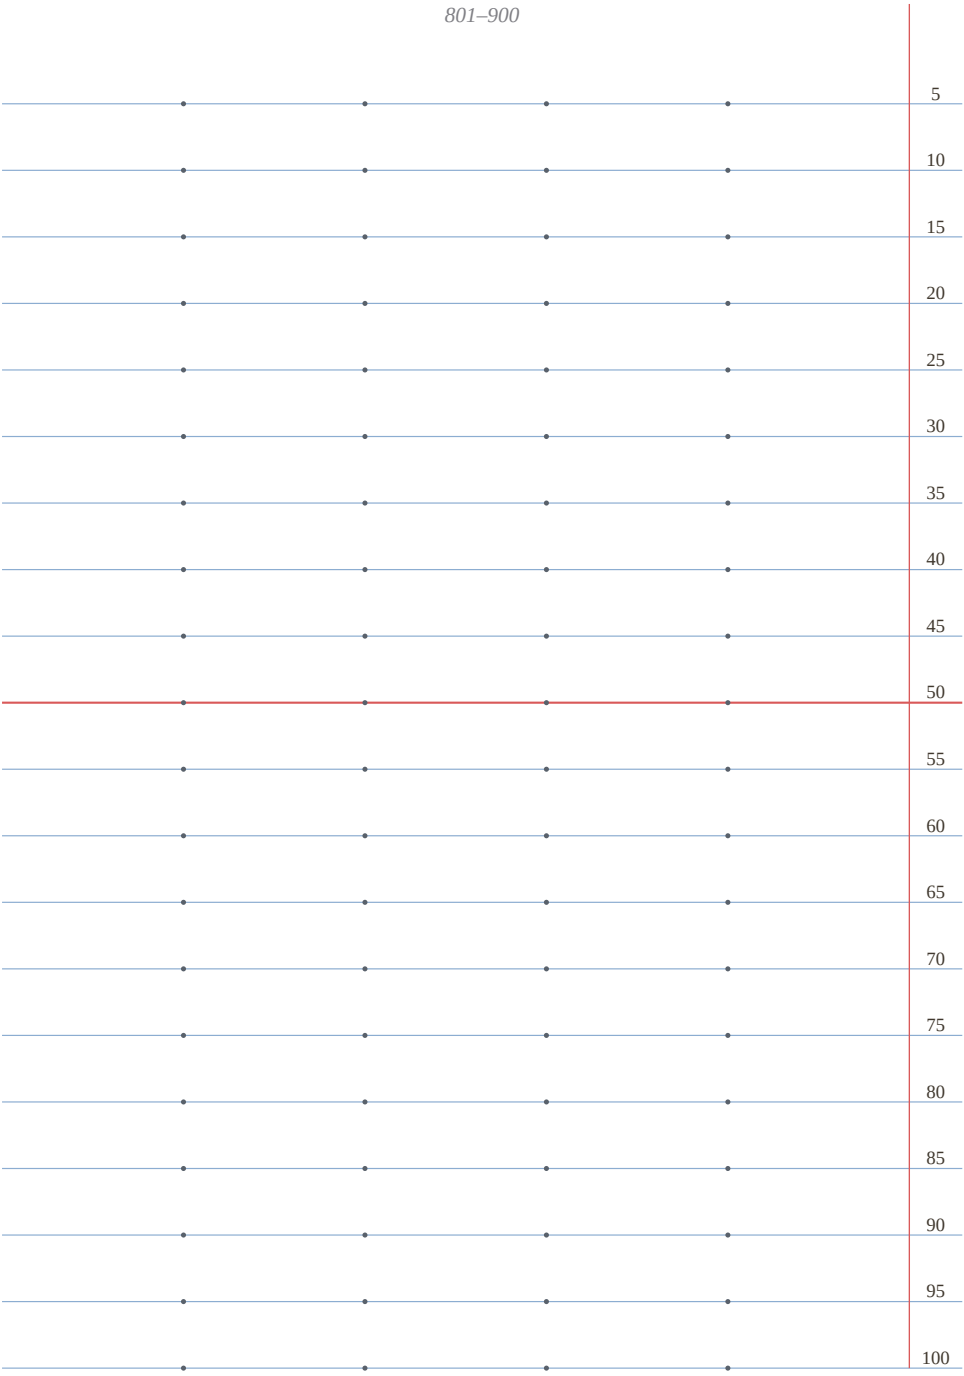

8th Century, A.D.

701–800

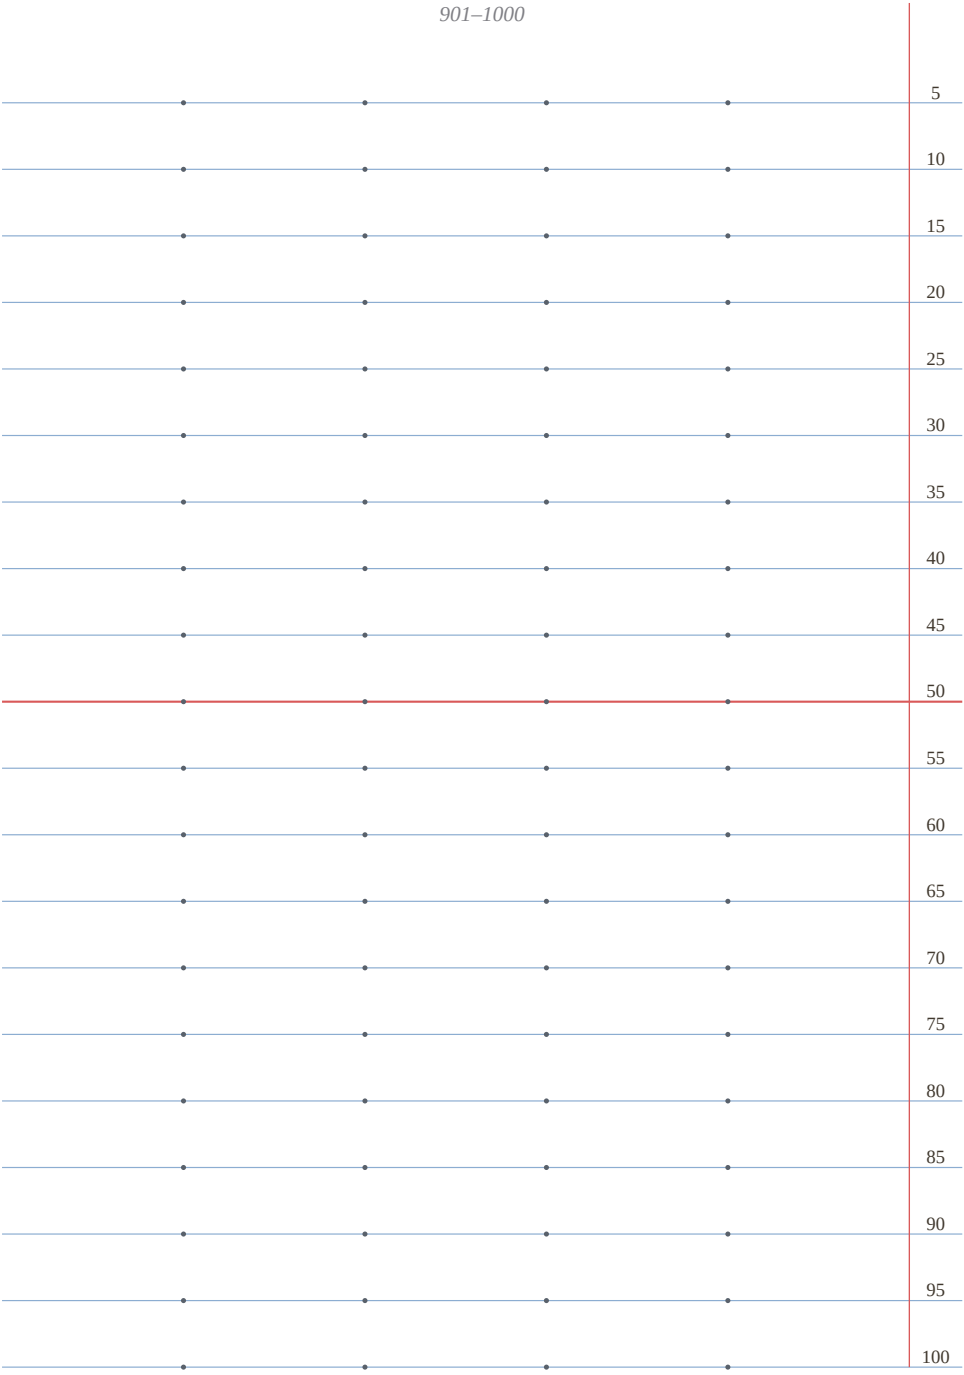

9th Century, A.D.

801–900

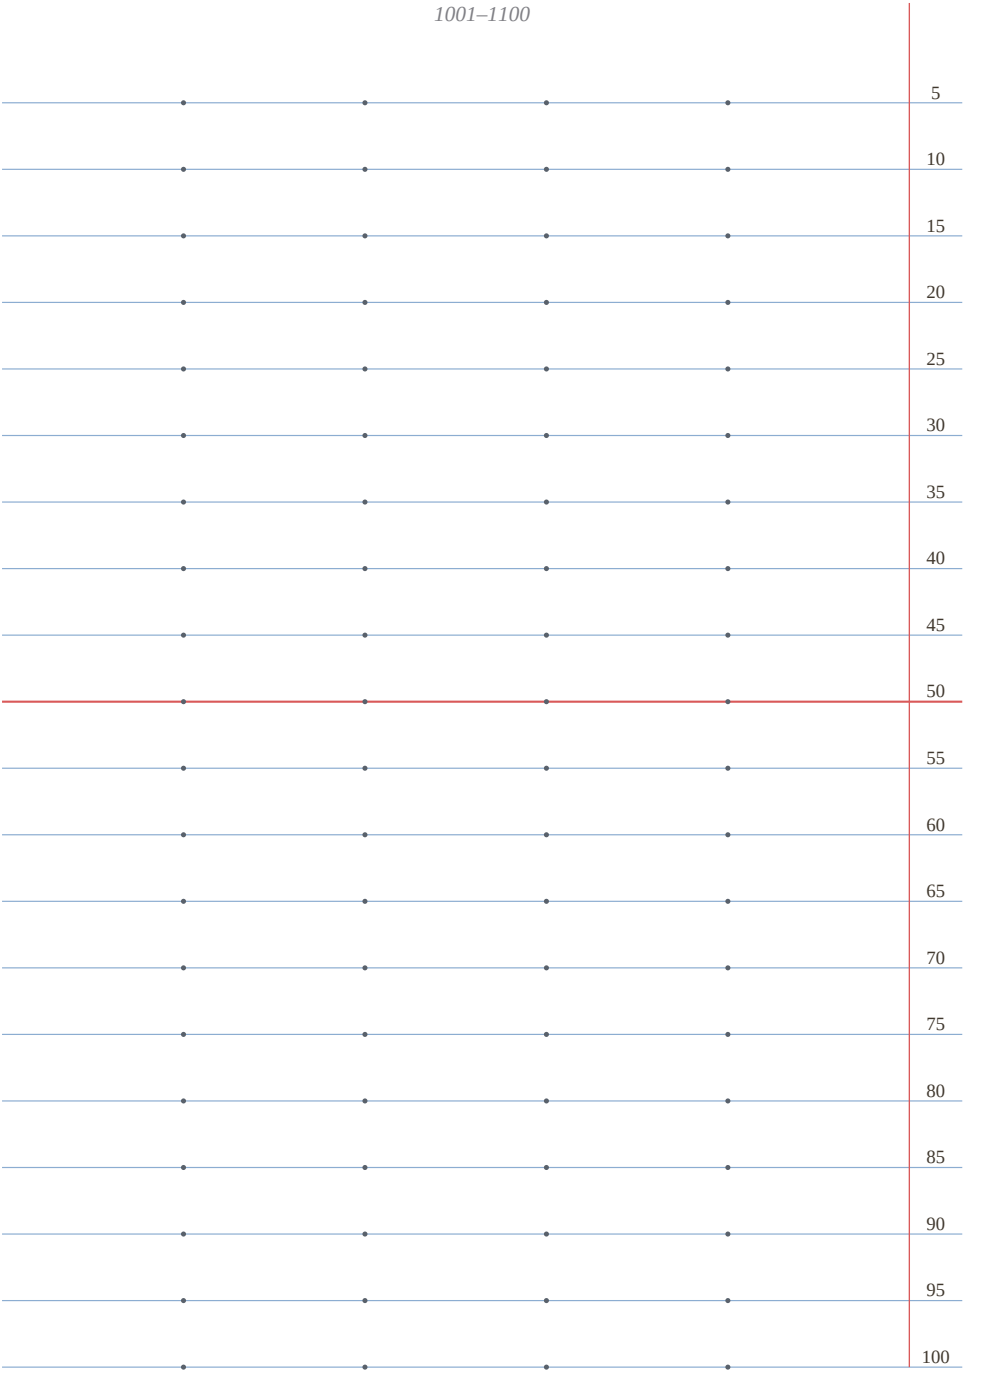

10th Century, A.D.

901–1000

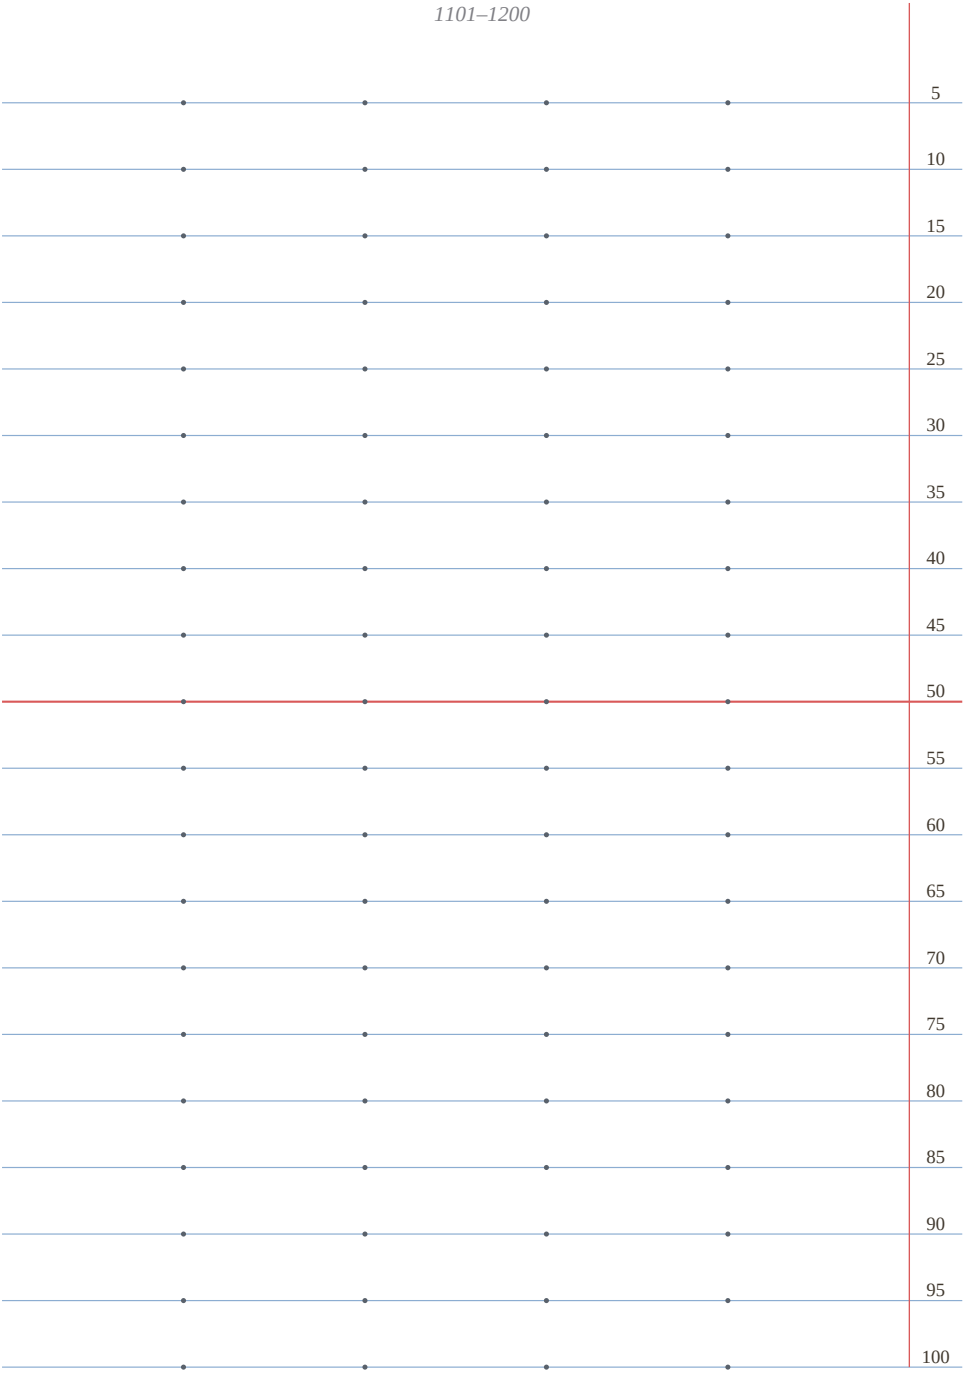

11th Century, A.D.

1001–1100

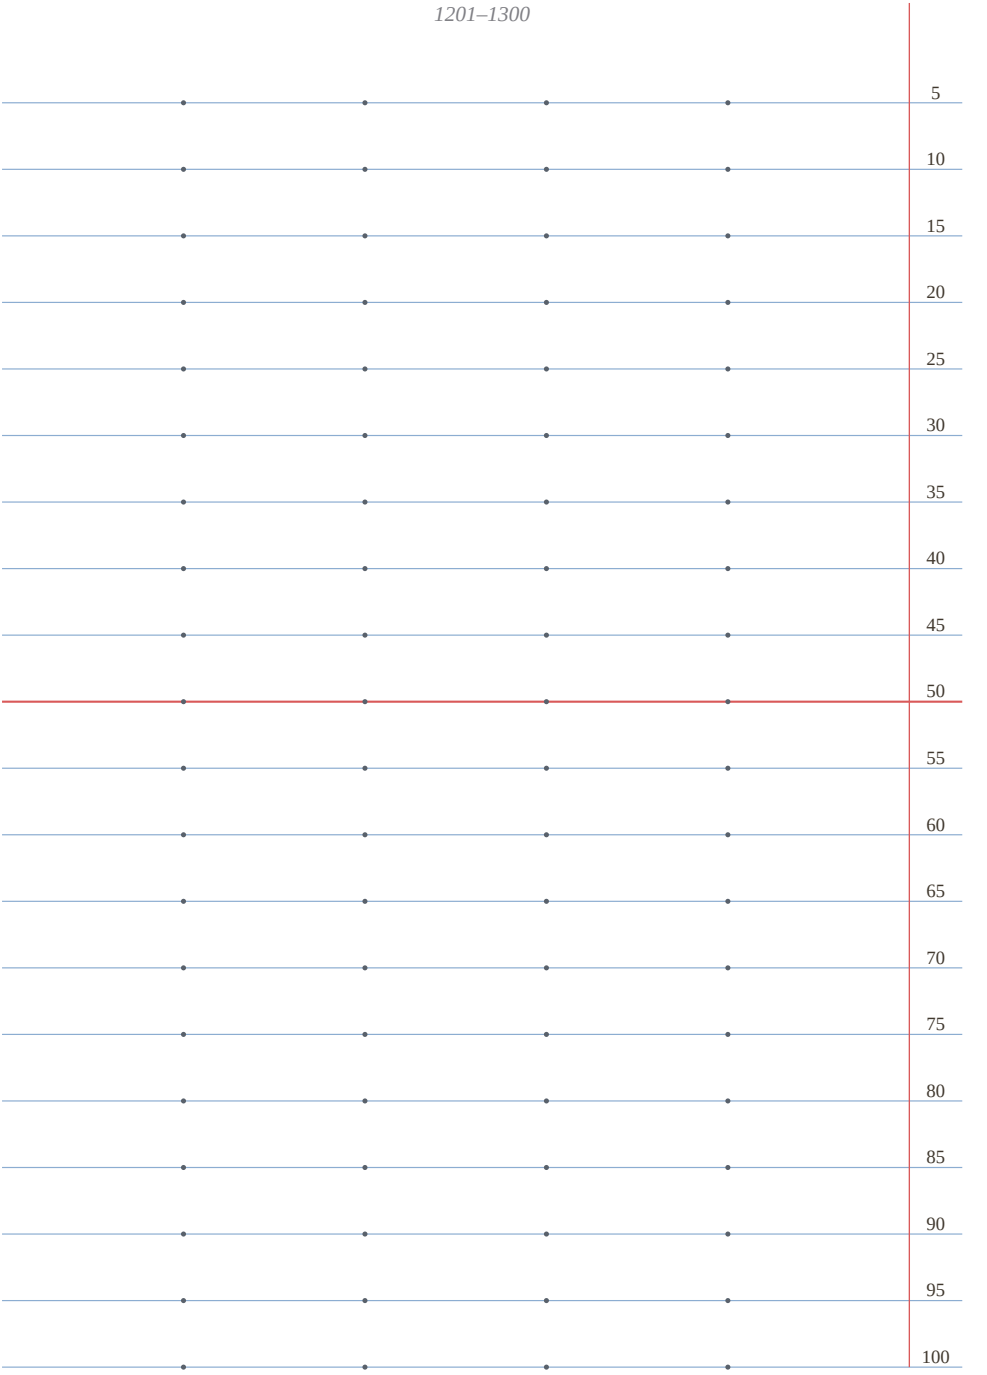

12th Century, A.D.

1101–1200

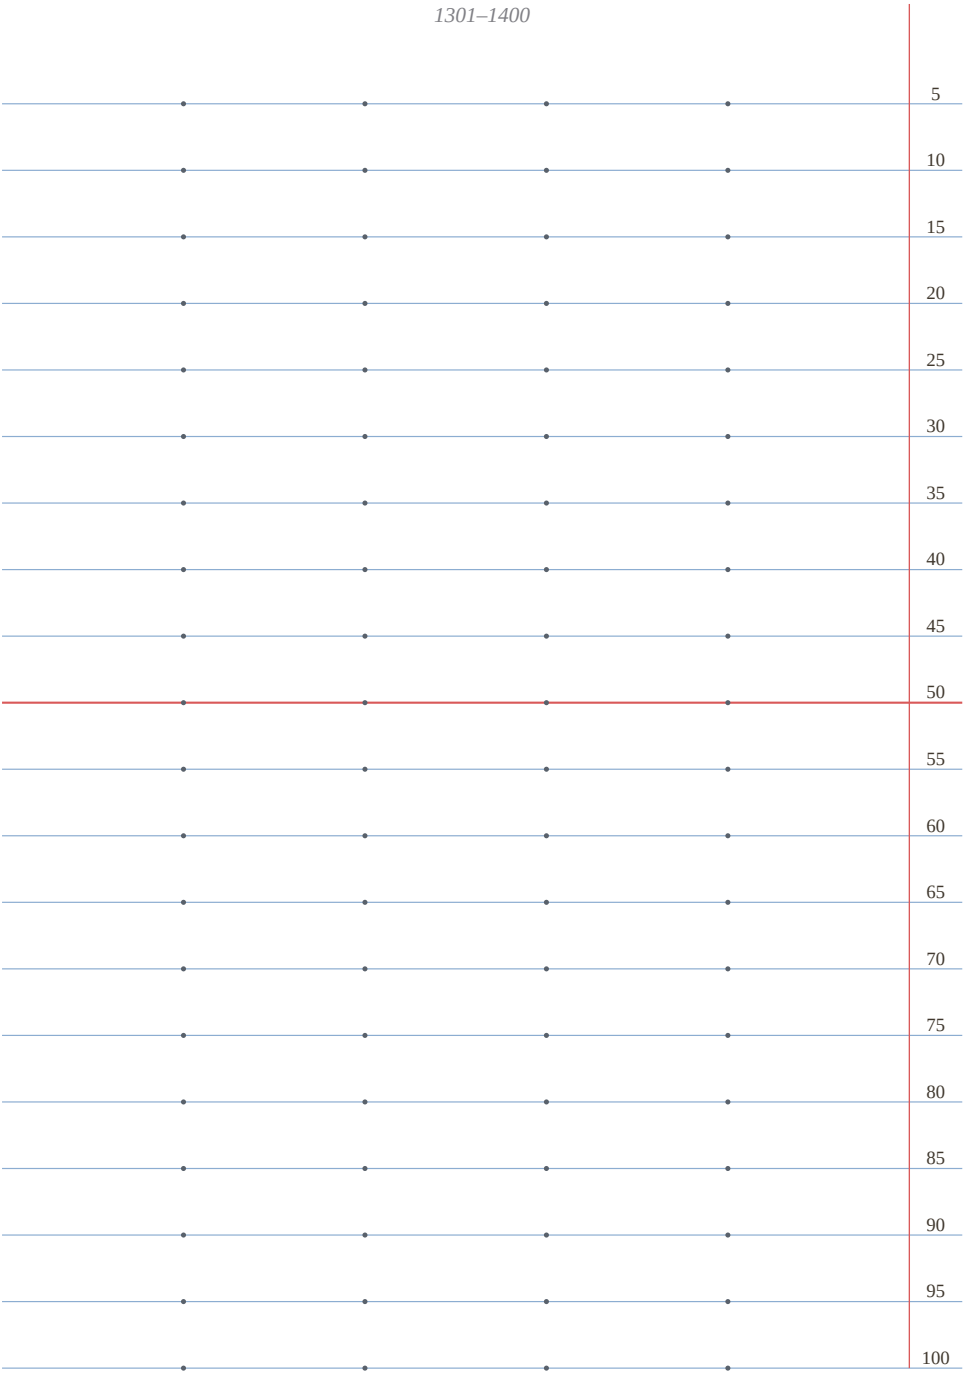

13th Century, A.D.

1201–1300

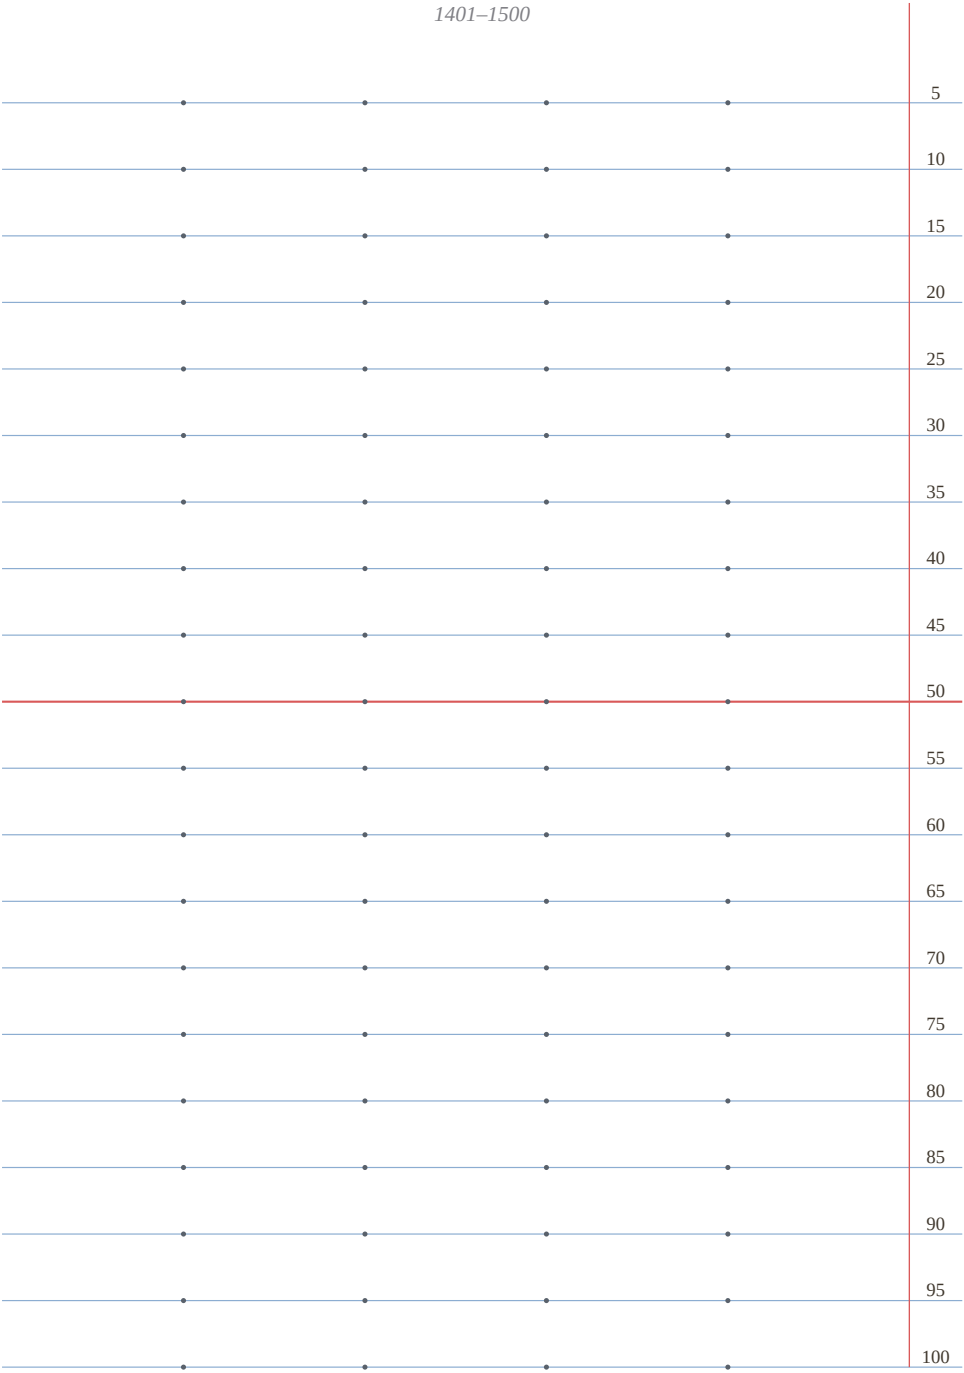

14th Century, A.D.

1301–1400

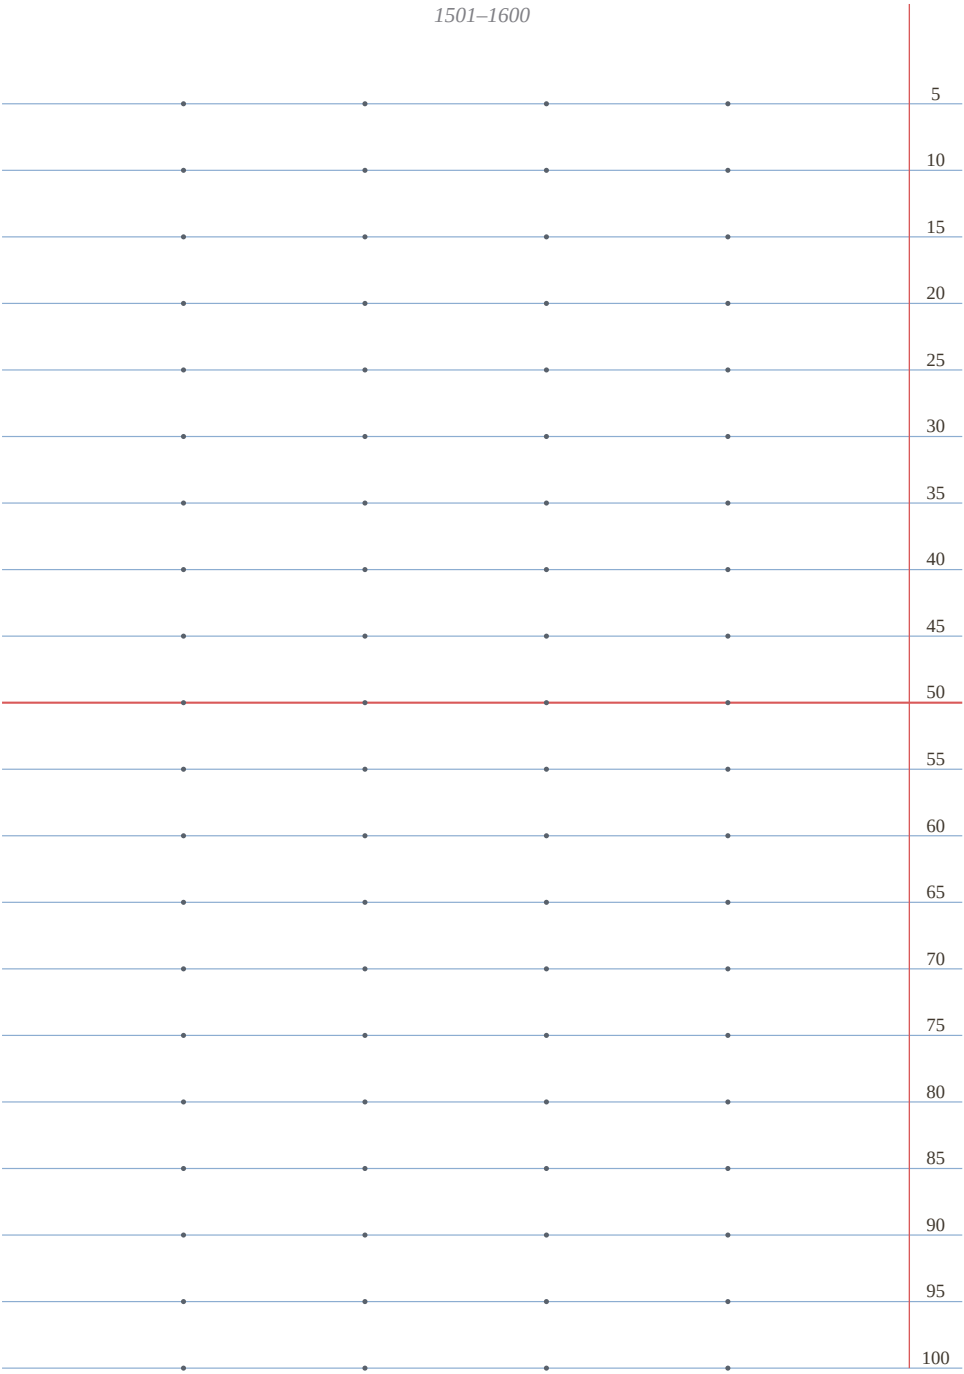

15th Century, A.D.

1401–1500

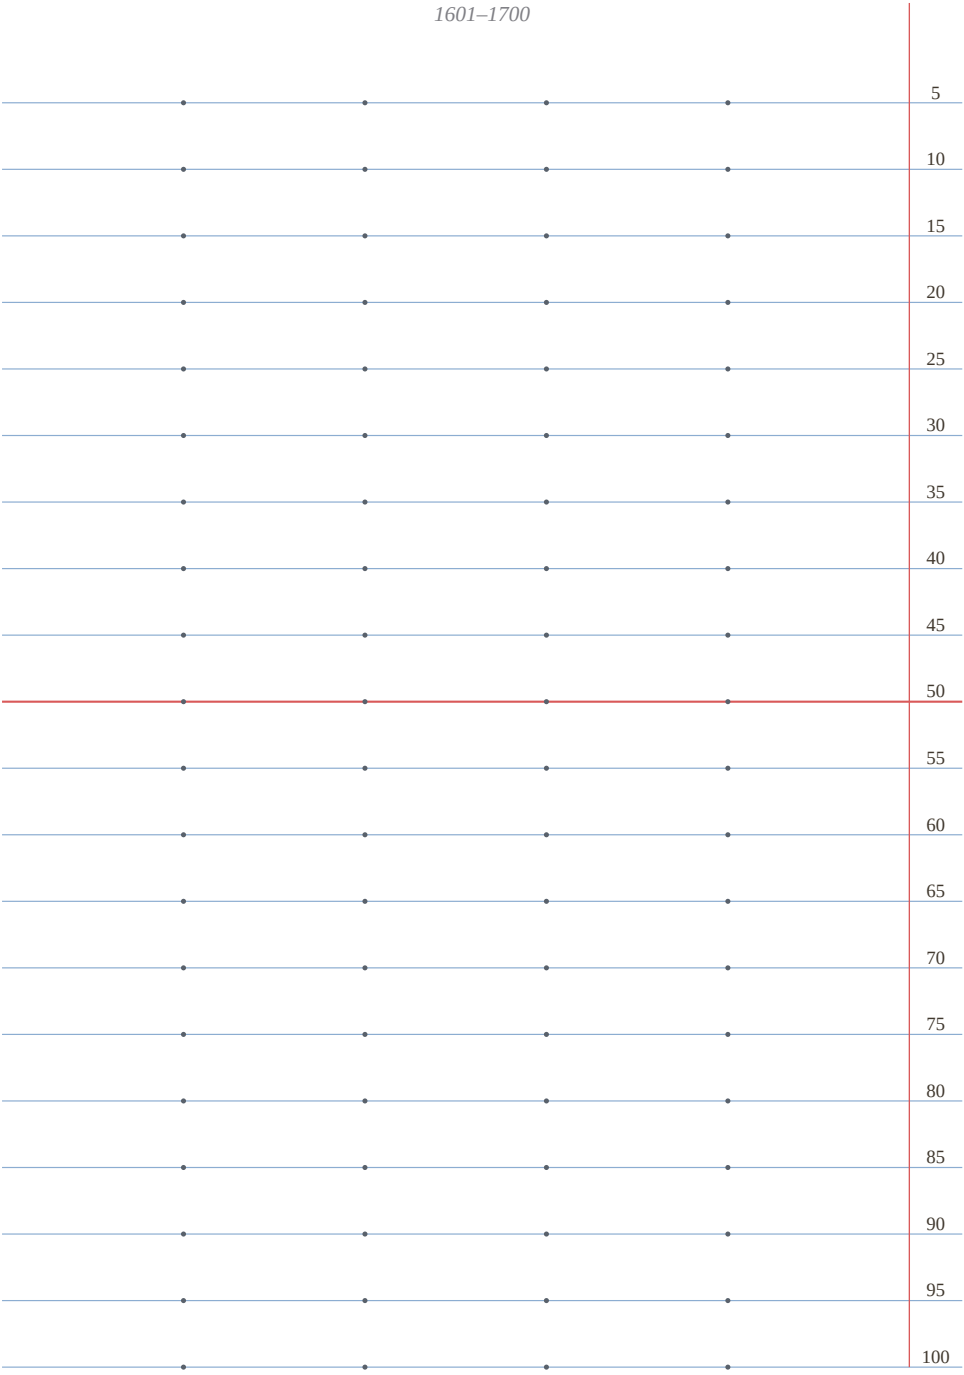

16th Century, A.D.

1501–1600

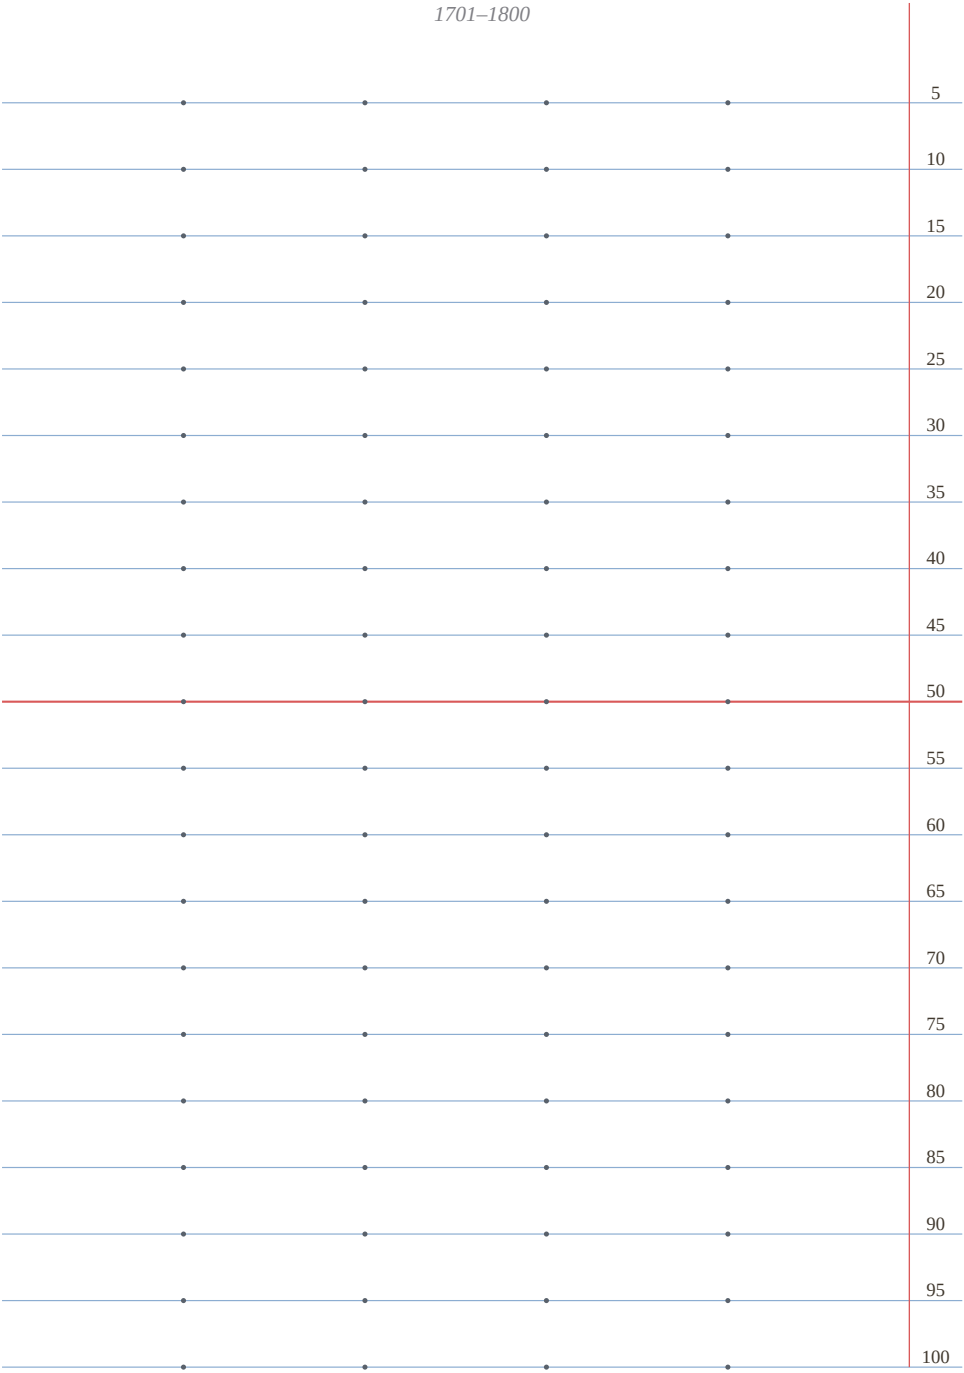

17th Century, A.D.

1601–1700

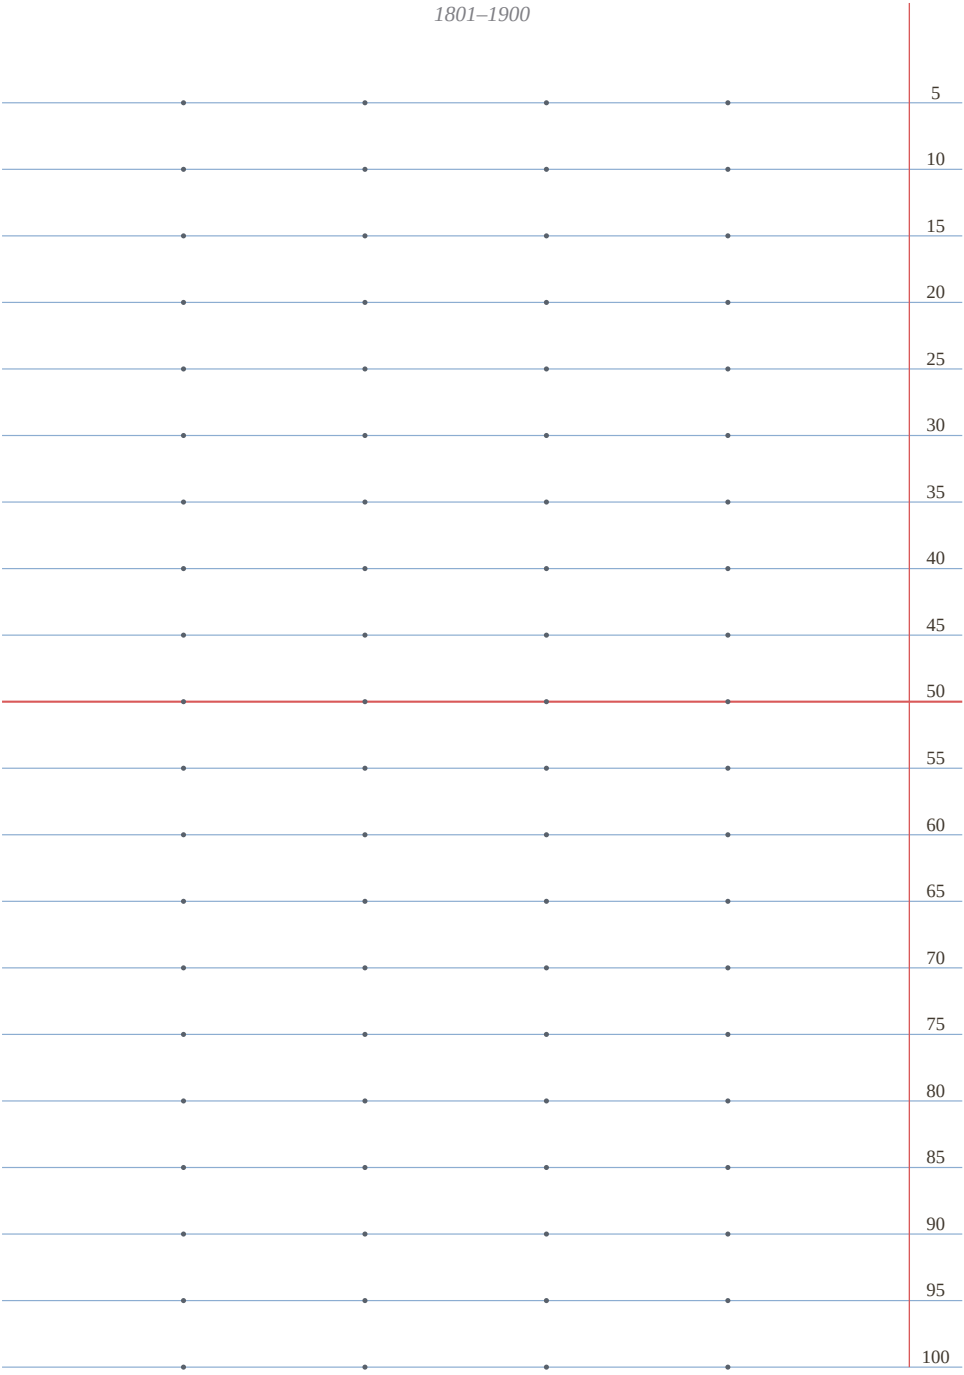

18th Century, A.D.

1701–1800

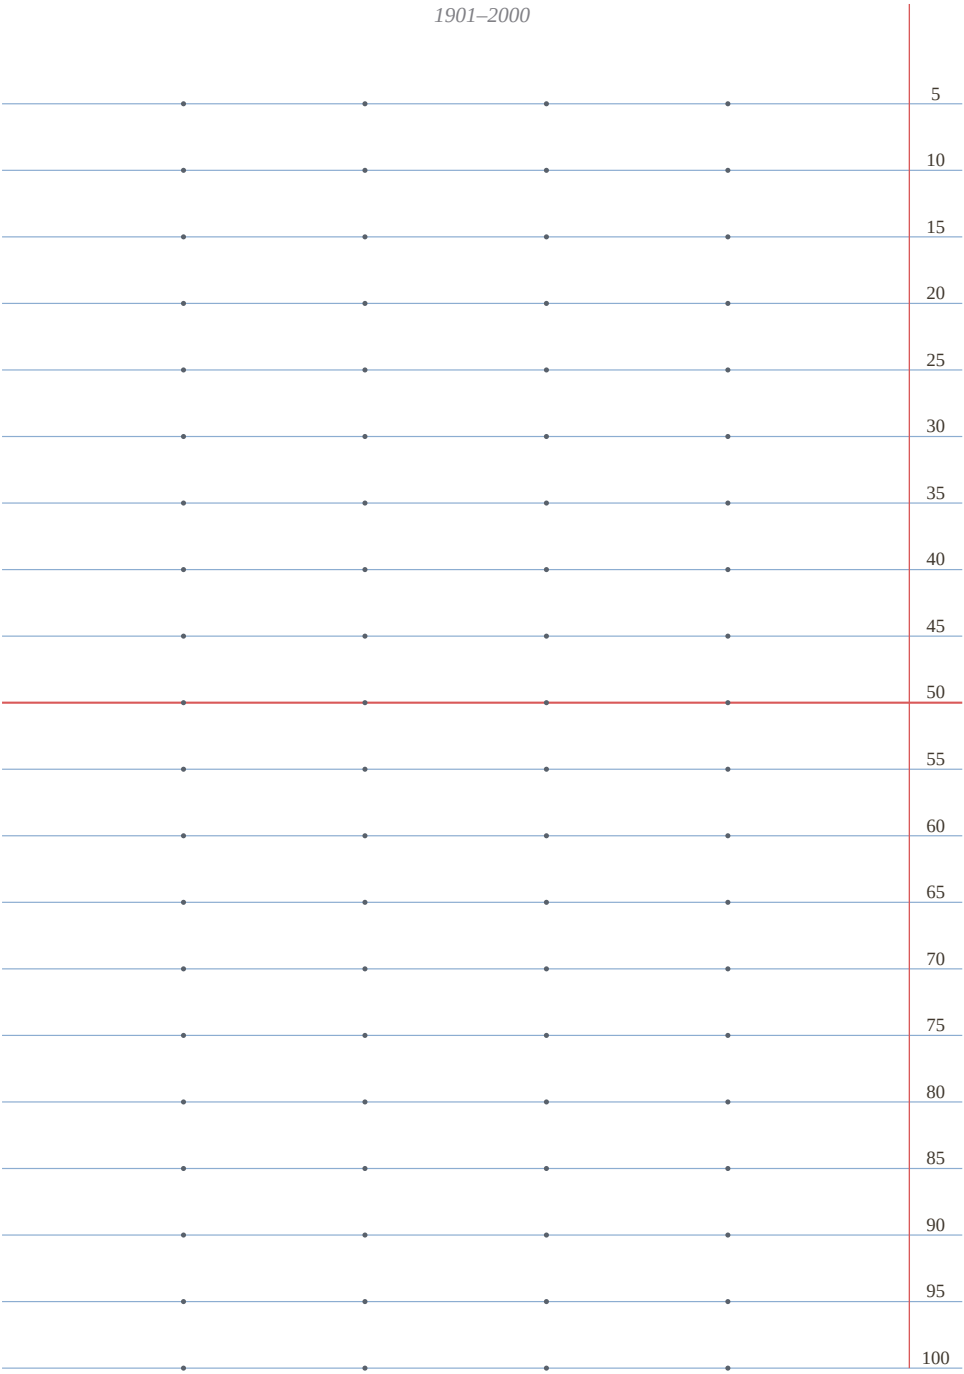

19th Century, A.D.

1801–1900

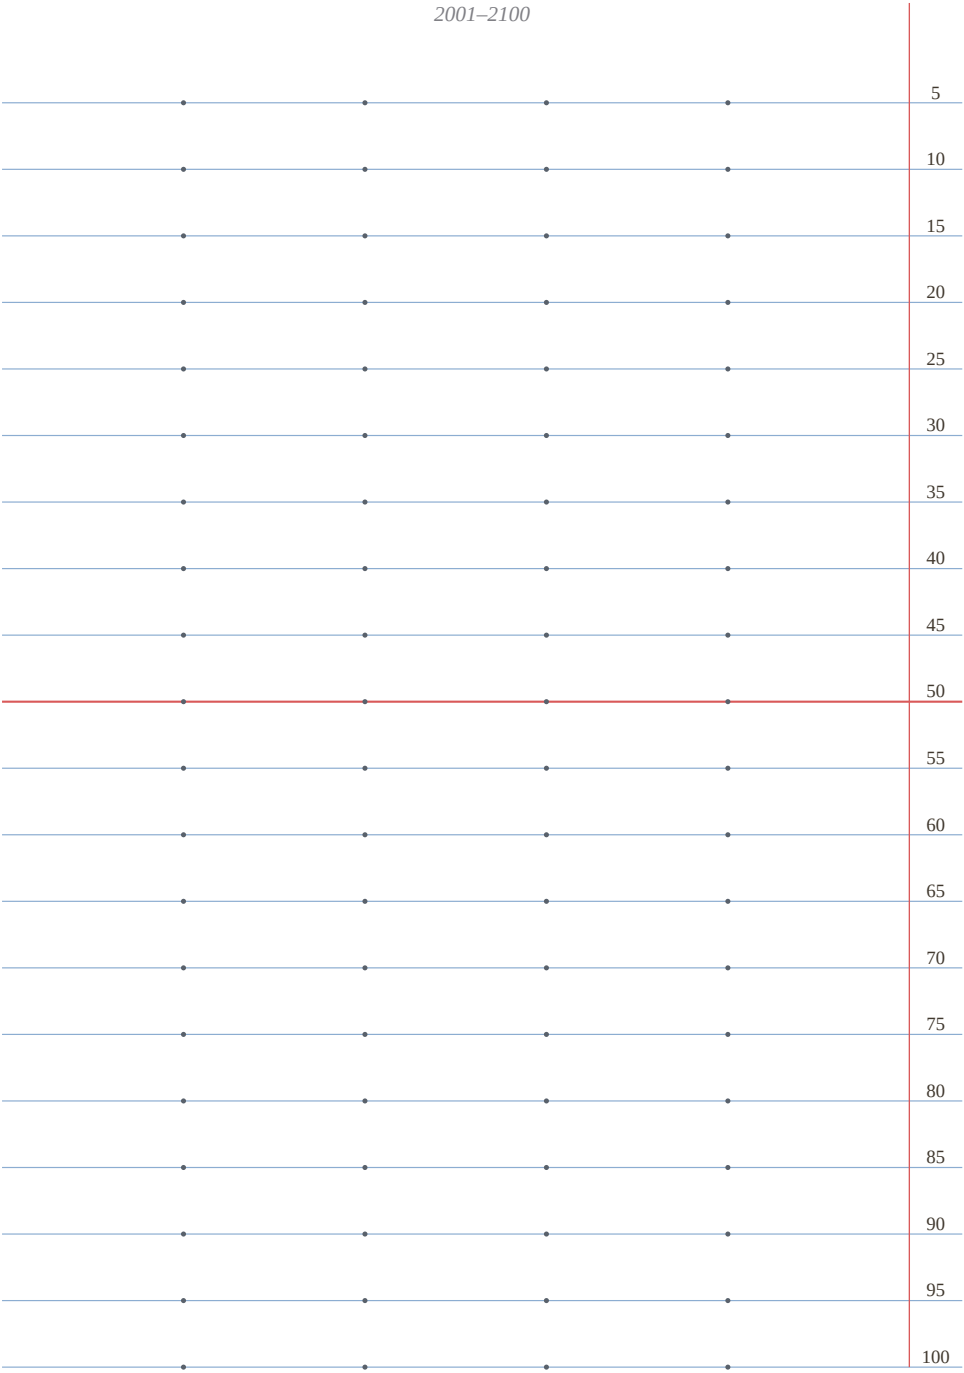

20th Century, A.D.

1901–2000

21st Century, A.D.

2001–2100

Map

Map

Map

Map

Map

Map

Map

Map

Cuttings and New Finds

Cuttings and New Finds

Cuttings and New Finds

Cuttings and New Finds

Books to Read

Books to Read